WHAT ARE YOUR CHANCES?

An eminent University of Georgia professor of the mathematics department has it figured out that one break in the dime letter chain craze and your chances of "getting wealthy" is a 300,000,000 to 1 shot. The dime chain letter fans have a two-to-one chance of collecting nothing.

But if all of you faithfully, hopefully and charitably kept up the chain, you'd be receiving 10,000,000 letters a day at the end of three months.

The professor applied to the dime-chain craze the laws of probability he learned in flipping pennies 100,000 times for several years to ascertain just how many times would turn up heads or tails.

If 20 per cent, or one out of five, of the people receiving letters join in, the average amount received back would be 10 cents, the professor said in blasting the hopes of those who would get rich quick.

"I followed the course of 25 separate 'letters' and found that 18 of these would receive nothing and the other seven received amounts varying from 10c to 90c."

Fire Wipes Out Carmel's Beautiful Theatre

Total destruction by fire Sunday morning of the Carmel theatre caused a loss to its owner, Edward Kuster, of between $60,000 and $70,000. It was one of the most artistic and attractive playhouses on the west coast. Erected about 12 years ago by Mr. Kuster as a medium for the expression of his predilection for the drama, the Theatre of the Golden Bough, as it was first known, served for several years for the production of numerous professional dramatics and also frequent plays by local talent. In itself the Theatre of the Golden Bough perhaps did more to establish Carmel's reputation for having an individualistic atmosphere of culture, than any other agency.

For the past few years the theatre has been used as a motion picture house; but quite recently the owner, Mr. Kuster, has been engaged in putting on special performances with a view to restoring the early artistic atmosphere of the theatre.

It was about 8:45 when the fire was discovered and an alarm turned in. The fire department responded very quickly but before the several lines of hose could be connected and the water turned on the flames had broken through the roof. The total destruction of the large building seemed certain. But by remarkable work of the local firemen assisted by men from the 11th Cavalry Regiment of Monterey and SERA workers, the fire was extinguished before the theatre up before they begin their school building walls collapsed, and this prevented the spread of the fire to adjoining buildings. So threatening indeed should be left at the school or telephoned Mrs. Watson, 362, or had the fire become that the stocks of merchandise and furniture in the buildings close to the theatre were removed.

A near-tragedy was narrowly averted when Frank J. Jacott, believing that Miss Patricia Conlan, who had apartments in the theatre, was trapped in the building, attempted a rescue. He used a gas mask but it did not work, and when other men investigated, Jacott was found in the building overcome by smoke, and rescued.

The building loss was partially covered by insurance. Mr. Kuster as yet has not indicated what his plans for the future are. He also is the owner of the Carmel playhouse on Monte Verde street and that may be used to complete his summer program.

The origin of the fire is not known. Night police officer, Dixon, states that he inspected the grounds at about six a. m. and at that time there was no sign of fire. An employee of the Normandie Inn, is reported to have said that while working in the grounds of the inn perhaps an hour before the discovery of the fire he saw a car stop in the rear entrance of the theatre and a man get out and as it seemed to him, go into the building. When the discovery was made no car was in sight, however.

PHYSICAL EXAMINATION OF CHILDREN MAY 23RD

The annual physical examination of young children about to enter school has been arranged by the local Parent-Teacher Association for Thursday, May 23. Dr. Gray will make the examinations and no expense is involved. It is desirable that all children who are to enter school either next September or the following February be examined now for physical defects in order that any difficulties may be cleared up before they begin their school career.

Names of children to be examined should be left at the school or telephoned Mrs. Watson, 362, or to Miss Kellogg, 185-R, with home address and where possible, the telephone address. Arrangements can be made to have the child called for if necessary.

The examination will be held in the school gymnasium between 9:30 and 10:30 in the morning and all children who are to be looked over should appear promptly at 9:30. Remember the date, May 23.

TAXATION AND DEBT INCREASE IN VOLUME

At the meeting of the Social Credit group in Sunset school on Thursday, the discussion was on Taxation and Debt and how these two burdens were increasing rapidly in volume. Not only is such the case during depressions but also in so-called prosperous times with the result that American citizens are, individually and nationally, losing their equity in the real assets of the nation, which are being taken over by the banking system.

Under a system of Social Credit, which could operate regardless of which political party is in office, the burden of taxation and of debt would be enormously reduced, benefiting all and harming none. National dividends would be issued to all citizen-voters, based on the nation's ability to produce goods and services which is the only sound basis for money, thereby enabling the consumer to buy what the producer and retailer have to sell.

At present the nation borrows the nation's credit from the private banking system and pays interest on it, thereby assuming that the nation's credit belongs to the private banking system. Increasing numbers of people realize very clearly that the nation's credit is certainly not the property of the banking system, but certainly is the property of the American people and this being so they wonder why the nation borrows from the banks something that is already owned by the nation.

Next meeting will be at 8:00 p. m. Thursday, May 23, at Sunset school. Subject, "Public Works."

The following Carmel students of the University of California were awarded degrees at the graduating exercises held May 17: James Hopper, degree of master of arts; Genevieve Nelsene Newell, Jane Lord Pomeroy and Margaret Trowbridge Reynolds, college of letters and sciences, degree of bachelor of arts; Shirley Douglass, Pebble Beach, degree in letters and sciences.

Mrs. Ruth Matthews Lewis is entertaining her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Robert Lewis, at her home on Carmelo Real. Mr. Lewis has been transferred from near Santa Barbara to San Francisco where a home will soon be established.

"The Truth About the Townsend Plan," will be the subject of a leading article in Plain Talk magazine, of Washington, D. C., in an early issue. The magazine is known for its fearless treatment of the news of the day, championing the cause of the great majority of Americans by publishing facts which are not told by publications depending upon advertising for their profit and existence.

The first gun to be fired by Plain Talk is an editorial to appear in the June issue in support of the Townsend Plan. In part it will be as follows:

TOWNSEND PLAN

"That section of the press which is controlled by Wall Street through advertising appropriations has lied about and ridiculed the Townsend Plan of old age pensions which, if enacted into law, will put 2,000,000,000 a month into forced circulation. Obviously, $2,000,000,000 will be a tremendous stimulation to business and manufacturing of all kinds. Also, the permanency of the Townsend agenda will assure a permanent stimulation."

"The same Wall Street-controlled press (in May, 1933) lied in the other direction and actually boosted the NRA brainstorm which, we were told, would pull us out of the depression by our own bootstraps—by decreasing purchasing power.

This 'plan,' which its own administrator now admits reduced employment by 40 per cent in its first six months, was the most asinine proposal ever put forward by adult human beings.

"The same money masters who never batted an eyelash when the 'New' Dealers proposed the NRA and the AAA and the other expensive sections of the nation's indigestible alphabet soup, are yelling bloody murder at the thought of the very practical Townsend Plan, and of other plans which embody good old common sense and the use of sound and proven economic principles."

"They all admit that a shortage of money in circulation, which some call a 'money famine,' is the cause of our economic troubles. Dr. Townsend has proposed a real cure for the money famine (by correcting the cause) which any system of mathematics we can use shows will be successful."

Truth About the

Patterson Urges Arbitration of Labor Disputes

Forced arbitration of all statewide labor disputes is provided by an act by Assemblyman Ellis E. Patterson, which promises to furnish excitement during the closing days of the legislative session. The measure would compel compliance with the board's decisions and findings.

Answering the charge that the act is wholly indefinite regarding the procedure to be followed in selecting the employer and employee organizations, Assemblyman Patterson says that his measure will be subject to revision, and that it is merely an opening wedge, as he believes labor disputes can be settled quietly and peacefully. He adds that radical industry and radical labor are not in favor of the bill, and that certain labor organizations as well as individuals opposed it in committee.

Patterson suggested that the board be elected at large in each county.

"The bill is yet in embryo," Patterson said, "and will of course be amended on the floor and worked out more definitely. If it is not passed, I predict that industrial and agricultural strife will continue to endanger all concerned. I am of the opinion that disputes can be peacefully arbitrated and differences of opinion ironed out without the use of any mailed fist policy."

William P. Silva visited his friend, Harvey Russell, on his ranch near Modesto last week and drove with his host to Arizona where he made some sketches of the desert.

Mission Benefit

Carmel artists and writers are busy with plans for a bizarre entertainment show and follies to be staged May 29 at Del Monte for the purpose of raising sufficient money to restore the roof on historic Carmel Mission.

The artists and writers agreed to take on the responsibility of staging the show when it was learned that the roof of the Mission is in so precarious a condition a collapse of the entire building is imminent.

Mr. Sidney Fish, of Carmel Valley, is general chairman and heads a group of prominent socialites who are working for the success of the affair and the preservation of one of California's most famous missions, says the Pine Cone.

Tickets are now being placed in the hands of Carmel residents and service clubs and other organizations are being urged to cooperate with the artists and writers in every way.

The artists on the committee include Paul Whitman, William Ritschel, Jo Mora, Armin Hansen, Arthur Hill Gilbert, and many others who have immortalized the pictureque mission on canvas.

Hazards ofAbalone Fishing

Abalone is not a game fish in the sense that trout, salmon and black bass are game fish. It ignores ground bait. The abalone fisher goes forth with an axe or a crowbar, or some similar instrument, and pries his quarry off the rock whereon he finds it. His job used to be a very prosaic and unsportsmanlike one.

Recently, however, new and appalling perils have come to fret the abalone fisher in nearby waters. The cuttlefish that formerly haunted the Monterey county coast were in baby form, and were purveyed in restaurants as squids—a rather tough delicacy, but one enjoyed by many—have taken to growing up and trying to eat abalone hunters, says the Pine Cone.

Owing to the propensity of the abalone to find an abiding-place on a rock near or below low-water marks, its pursuer has often to wade in deep water to capture his prey.

While he is thus wading, he becomes an easy and appealing mark for the grown-up octopus, which lately has taken to lurking in many of the most desirable abalone haunts. Recently near Carmel, Joe Prentiss, son of Charles Prentiss, SERA director of San Jose, nearly drowned when a 9-foot octopus seized him while he was abalone fishing. He was rescued after a terrible battle with the monster. Near Santa Cruz a couple of weeks ago, one fisherman was nearly captured by a comparatively small specimen of this dried family. He was rescued by a neighborly abalone hunter who was busy in adjacent water, and who cut him loose from his captor. Tentacles of the octopus were only about 12 feet long. But eight tentacles, each about 12 feet long, could caress any human swimmer so fondly, in deep water, that his plight would be hopeless, were no strong rescuers at hand to slay the creature.

Last week, near Fort Ross, in Sonoma county, John Kenziani of San Rafael, while up to his waist in water, fishing for abalone, was grabbed around the boots by an octopus which would have dragged him to death but for his companion, Mario Regalia, also of San Rafael.

Barbecue at Big Trees

Townsend Clubs of central California are to gather at the Santa Cruz County Big Trees Park, next Sunday, May 26, for a gigantic barbecue.

Barbecued meat, beans, bread and coffee will be served from 10:30 a.m. and on. Tickets are 35 cents.

The Southern Pacific company is offering very attractive rates by rail, and a special train will be run from Monterey provided a sufficient number of Peninsula people agree to go by train, leaving Monterey and Pacific Grove early Sunday morning. The return fare from Monterey will be $1.15. On account of the large crowd expected the committee in charge recommends using the trains as much as possible. Plans are laid for 20,000 people. The full program is as follows:

Captain Delbert Brunton, Master of Ceremonies.
 10 to 12:30—Band concerts; remarks and announcements by Ed. J. Margrett and S. J. Daley.

12:30-12:45—Salute to the Flag; singing of "America", led by Mrs. A. R. Steinwand.
 12:45-1:00—Songs by Charles Braunfeld.

1:00-2:00—Band concerts; remarks by Capt. Delbert Brunton and Miss Marion R. Glen.

2:00-2:30—"Let My People Go"—sermon by Dr. Norman W. Pendleton.

2:30-3:00—Gov. Merriam, speaker of the day.

3:00-4:00—Guest speakers: Sheridan Downey, and Judge Frank Tyrrell.

4:00-5:00—Band concerts and announcements.

NEW SONG OF RIVER

CARMELO PUBLISHED

Myrtle R. Hoffman, of Carmel, early this week received from her publishing house the first edition of her Spanish waltz song, "Down by the Beautiful River Carmelo." Mrs. Hoffman composed both the words and music for this delightful song picture of Carmel's entrancing environments. She has priced the piece at 35 cents and from each sale will give five cents for the Carmel Mission restoration fund. The song is dedicated to the founder of the mission, Father Junipero Serra. The music is on sale at the Denny Watrous Gallery and at Stanford's.

Even when we were dead in sins, hath quickened us together with Christ, (by grace ye are saved;) . . . For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God;" Ephesians 2: 1, 5, 8.

The following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included: "Soul is immortal because it is Spirit, which has no element of self-destruction.
